

Honey and the Magic Tree

"What are you looking at Barney?" Honey asked her turtle. He seemed to be quite interested in something on the grass, for he wouldn't take his eyes off it. Honey was about to place him back in his tank when something hard hit her knee. It was a key!

The key was of a gold colour with orange jewels studded on the handle and top. "I wonder what this is for?" Honey thought to herself. She quickly ran inside, picked up her coat and asked her mother if she could go for a walk in the park.

er mother said yes, but she would have to be ome within a hour for it would be teatime oon. Honey agreed and went on her way o the park. When she arrived she went traight to her secret hideout under the large ree with weeping branches.

oney was positive that she'd seen a keyhole there when she saw it last and just as she remembered, she was correct. Honey removed the key from her pocket and placed it into the tree. Pop! A little yellow door appeared! Honey took a step through and looked around in awe.

ere were all different shades of red, orange, yellow and gold streamed across the sky and a rainbow too. There were stars everywhere and the most beautiful waterfall she had ever seen. Honey soon knew it was time to go but before she did, she decided to name the land...

'My Happy Place'

Thanks to Honey's turtle Barney, she finds a magic key just for her!

But what exactly is this key for? And will she ever find out the secrets of her special tree?
